FULL EXPOSURE TECHNIQUE

This photography technique ensures that all areas of a room are properly exposed in a photo, including dark spots and very bright spaces like windows or skylights.

The result is a “balanced” photo that showcases all the important aspects of a room from furniture details to window views, similar to the way the human eye captures all details in a space.

This technique requires to take and blend some extra photos and is offered as part of the basic package to show our commitment of delivering professional photos that better showcase your property.
